ADMISSIONS AT SCOTTISH LIVINGSTONE HOSPITAL

MR A. K. KHAN (MOLEPOLOLE NORTH): asked the Minister of Health to update this Honourable House on the waiting list and period as well as demographics of admitted and out-patients at Scottish Livingstone Hospital in Molepolole for various critical medical conditions and if the proposed National Health Insurance could be considered to ameliorate the situation.

MR SPEAKER: Honourable Minister of Health. Tima microphone oo Honourable Khan. Honourable Assistant Minister Ookeditse.

ASSISTANT MINISTER OF HEALTH (MR OOKEDITSE): Thank you Mr Speaker. Mr Speaker, I am aware that the waiting periods to see Specialist are very long country wide, including Scottish Livingstone Hospital. The standard waiting period for Specialist's consultation is two months, and almost all specialist at Scottish Livingstone Hospital are longer than two months except for Pediatrics. Furthermore, we have many patients waiting to undergo various operations. This is mostly caused by low number of the Specialist in the hospital. For the population of approximately 74,000 in Molepolole, we only have two Pediatricians, one Physician, two Ophthalmologist, one Surgeon, one Anesthetist, one Obstetrician - Gynaecologist.

The waiting periods, and the waiting list are as follows;

I am going to mention them by specialty area.

Speciality area	Common Critical Conditions	Waiting List	Average waiting Period
Ophthalmology	Cataract, Glaucoma, Squint, Refractive errors	Surgery: 2 447	Surgery :13 months
		Consultation: 1 656	Consultation: 5 months

Mr Speaker, the current situation as we see at Scottish Livingstone is what we find as unacceptable. It is a condition that we found in place, it has marked what many have said marks the collapse of the health system. It is a condition that we believe that we were elected to go and rectify. So, to rectify this condition which is quite abnormal and inappropriate we have amongst other initiatives The National Health Insurance (NHI) which we trust and believe once in a planned and rolled out will certainly reduce conditions such as these, not only at Scottish Livingstone but nationwide. I thank you Mr Speaker.

MR OOKEDITSE: Thank you Honourable Dow, as you may be aware if you take a program as big and as serious as NHI, it has quite a lot of stakeholders both internal and external. We are at that phase where we have just taken off, it will take a quite a bit of time to actually roll out. The details that we are looking for, are details that certainly will come as we get more stakeholders on board. Where we are at the moment, we are planning for this program and we are doing consultations and we certainly will give Parliament and other stakeholders an update once we have a roll out plan. The details you are looking for we do not have them right now, but you will have them in due time.

VICE CHANCELLOR OF UB

MR P. M. SEGOKGO (TLOKWENG): asked the Minister of Higher Education:

- (i) whether, at the time the current Vice Chancellor of the University of Botswana's appointment was made, the Minister consulted the University Council and Senate as required by Section 8(1) of the University of Botswana Act No. 15 of 2008; if so,
- (ii) to state when the recommendation for his appointment was made in accordance with Statute 13(1) of the University of Botswana Statute, which stipulates that such a recommendation should come from a Joint Committee of Council and Senate; and if so,
- (iii) when the meeting of the Joint Committee of Council and Senate was held, and who were the attendees.

MINISTER OF HIGHER EDUCATION (MR MAELE):

- (i) Mr Speaker, at the time the current Vice Chancellor of the University of Botswana (UB) was appointed, the Minister did consult the university council and senate as required by Section 8(1) of the UB Act 15 of 2008.
- (ii) On the 15th September 2017, the Chairman of Council submitted the Council's recommendation to the appointment of the Vice Chancellor to the then Minister of Tertiary Education, Research Science and Technology. The council recommended that the Vice Chancellor position be re-advertised because none of the shortlisted candidates were deemed suitable for the appointment. The council further recommended that alternatives options such as headhunting be considered. Taking these recommendations into account, the Minister appointed the current Vice Chancellor to a five-year contract effective 1st December 2017. His contract was further renewed in 2022 for a further five years.
- (iii) The joint committee of Council and Senate was held on the 18th of August 2017 and 24 people attended, unless he wants me to read, but they are provided for in the answer, but I can name them if you want the names to be read out Mr Speaker.

MR SPEAKER: O tlaa mo neela list eo.

MR MAELE: Thank you. The footnote that I will want to end with is that members of the council who were employed by the university then were excused from the deliberations regarding the recommendations, and Rre Lucas was one of them. Ke a leboga Mr Speaker.

MR SEGOKGO: Supplementary. A mme Minister o a itse gore o bua dikgang tse di kwa morago? Tse ke ne ke botsa ka potso ya renewal yone e a e buang eo ka 2022, ke tsone tse ke di botsang, jaanong ke dumela gore gongwe babereki ba gagwe ba mo neitse dikgang tse di kwa morago tse e leng gore ga ke bue ka tsone mo potsong e, ke tsone tse ke di batlang gompiano. Ke a leboga.

MR MAELE: Mr Speaker, appointment and renewal of a contract are two different things. The question here asked about appointment, the current appointment ya the current Vice Chancellor, so I was addressing the issue ya appointment, which happened in 2017 as the question intended. Therefore, the issue ya renewal was just a bonus fela ke mo raya ke re then it was renewed in 2017, but in terms of the appointment, it was done in 2017 not 2022. In 2022 it was just renewal. So, I was answering the question as it has been put, unless he goes back and rephrase the question. Ke a leboga Mr Speaker.

MR SEGOKGO: Further Supplementary. Ke a leboga. Ke dumela gore fa re mo paakanyong ya dilo tse di maswe tse di dirilweng, jaanong Minister a se ka a araba o kare go araba moDomkrag, go batla a araba jaaka motho wa Puso e ntšha a sa buelelele...

Mr Speaker, Honourable Members of Parliament and fellow citizens of our beloved Botswana, I rise to respond to the State of the Nation Address (SONA) delivered by His Excellency the President with deep and sense of responsibility and purpose. Mr Speaker, as a Member of the BDP representing the people of Kgatleng East, kwa ke tlhophilweng teng and standing in the minority on this occasion, my task it to analyse, critic and commend where due while insuring that the voice of progress remains at the centre of our collective discourse.

Mr President's address eloquently highlighted the strides our nation has made despite global and domestic challenges, yet as a steward of democracy we are called to scrutinise and enrich the Government's proposals with perspectives that serve all Batswana.

My contribution today will emphasise areas where we must push the envelope further to secure a Botswana that is prosperous, inclusive and prepared for the future.

Bagaetsho, as we stand at this remarkable crossroads in our nation's history, and history indeed because it is in the book of history that the Republic has changed ka 2024, it is vital to acknowledge that we are witnessing the first ever regime change in Botswana. The transition from one Government to another represent not only a shift in leadership but an evolution in our collective hopes and expectations for our brighter future. However, Mr Speaker, with this new beginning, comes great responsibility especially to those who placed their trust in us. A promise is made by any political party including the one that holds the reins of power, that is UDC, are not merely words on paper; they are a solemn commitment to the people.

Mr Speaker, I would like to remind this august House that manifestos while essential in shaping a party's vision are not Constitutionally binding. You will agree with me, yet they must carry weight, for they represent the aspirations and the needs of our people. It is crucial to understand that our words during campaigns are not just promises, but a covenant with Batswana who voted with expectation that change will bring tangible results.

Mr Speaker, we must admit that the reality of governance can be far more complex than campaigning. Some of the promises made such as paying P1, 800 to pensioners may not have materialised as quickly or as thoroughly as anticipated. This Mr Speaker, is the painful truth of political transition, yet it cannot be ignored that when a party makes pledges, they instill a sense of hope in the electorate. When those promises fall short, it brings disappointment and breeds skepticism.

Mr Speaker, I would like to take this moment to address the 100-day plan with a broad range of pledges. Mr Speaker, the new administration has laid out a 100-days plan with a broad range of pledges, covering everything from financial audits and economic diversification to strengthen the social services and fast tracking infrastructure. While I stand here as a member of the opposition and indeed I am the member of opposition sitting right at the back, representing the BDP, I want to stress that our role is not merely to criticise but to constructively engage and provide ideas that will shape the future of Botswana positively.

Mr Speaker, strengthening institutions like Directorate on Corruption and Economic Crime (DCEC) is essential, very essential indeed, and we support the endeavor wholeheartedly. However, we must not only focus on strengthening these institutions but also on their effectiveness and impartiality. To truly fight corruption, we must ensure that our institutions have the necessary independence, resources and legal backing to act decisively. The BDP, in its time, worked hard to create an institutional framework for anti-corruption. We had a comprehensive plan outlined on page 44, Roman figure II, of our manifesto to fight corruption and improve governance. Part of that plan included the establishment of anti-corruption courts as the measure to address the limitations faced by existing agencies. We hope the new Government will revisit and adopt this plan to strengthen our nation's fight against corruption and uphold good governance, and it is important to continue building on this work rather than merely starting from the scratch.

Mr Speaker, the most crucial pledges in the 100-day plan is the economic revitalisation and diversification while Botswana's dependency on diamonds is well documented, diversifying our economy is not an overnight task. We agree that economic diversification is the future, but we must be realistic about a pace at which it can be achieved. It is not enough to talk about diversifying into sectors like manufacturing or renewable energy, that needs to be a clear actionable roadmap. Partnerships with private sector and most importantly, investment in human capital to drive this transformation. I encourage Government to develop specific, measure goals for each sector of this diversification, rather than focusing on rhetoric.

Mr Speaker, given the Botswana's economy remains heavily reliant on diamonds accounting for 80 per cent of its foreign earnings, we as BDP was expecting a detailed address in the SONA regarding the country's strategy for managing and potentially diversifying its diamond industry. The BDP had been negotiating a new deal with De Beers aiming for the 50-50 revenue split, which was seen as a crucial step to increase the national revenue share from diamond sales.

The new Government, while acknowledging the need for economic diversification, has not provided substantial details on future of Botswana's diamond sector in the SONA. This lack of clarity is concerning, as the diamond industry is critical to the country's financial health. The BDP would have liked to see an in-depth discussion about the next steps, especially in light of the renegotiation of the contracts and emerging challenges in global diamond markets. As the country looks to diversify its economy, there is also a need to strike a balance between safeguarding diamonds revenues and pursuing new growth sectors.

Mr Speaker, the pledge by the President Advocate Duma Gideon Boko to reform the civil service is both timely and commendable. I really give it a nod. We must indeed aspire to a professional and efficient public service that serves our people with excellence and integrity. However, as we embark on his journey, let us not overlook the foundation laid by the previous administration e le e kgalang, under President Masisi. From the introduction of e-Government platforms to investments in infrastructure and performance based systems, Botswana has already taken strides towards modernisation. Yet, it is important to recognise that no reform can be truly transformational if our constitutional framework does not involve alongside it. Civil service reform, while crucial, operates within the confines of a governance system rooted in our Constitution. Yes, BDP had hoped to hear His Excellency President outline steps towards Constitutional reform, a vital conversation that must precede or accompany these proposed changes.

Botswana needs a Constitution that reflects the realities of our times and aligns with the ambitions of any reform agenda. Without this, the reforms risk being piecemeal or even undermined by outdated provisions.

Mr Speaker, let us not build a house on a weak foundation. Let us modernise our governance holistically with the Constitution as the cornerstone of its transformation. Despite that, we the BDP fully support the pledge, and we stand ready to contribute constructively to its realisation as it aligns with our vision outlined in the 2024 manifesto on Page 48 (I-VI).

Mr Speaker, infrastructure is undoubtedly a key driver of economic growth, and fast tracking projects like roads, schools and hospitals is crucial. Maabane ke letse ke utlwa bontsi jwa dibui ba bua ka tsona hospitals, dikole and staff like that. However, we must avoid the temptation to prioritise speed over quality. It is imperative that we ensure that these projects are carried out with the highest standards of quality and sustainability. The previous BDP Government worked tirelessly to address infrastructure gaps. We believe that the new Government should take a holistic approach ensuring that all infrastructure projects are not only completed swiftly but also contribute to the long term development of the nation.

Mr Speaker, we had some observations again that we made on the SONA that was presented by the President. Mr Speaker, the UDC has historically positioned itself as an alternative to the ruling BDP, focusing on addressing systemic issues such as corruption, economic inequality and limited democratic reforms. In the past, the UDC's platforms included creating hundreds of thousands of jobs, economic diversification, improving infrastructure and ensuring greater inclusivity and fairness in governance. You also emphasised revising the Constitution to address what you called constitutional dictatorship and creating a more equitable electoral system. We are looking forward to seeing those things being done Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker, as BDP we recognise that tackling social inequalities is essential for the progress of our nation. This was a core element of our manifesto with specific strategies laid out to close the gap between the rich and the poor. While we have passed the baton to the current Government, we strongly urge them to address some of these things. We had anticipated the SONA to highlight a clear plan for addressing inequalities. Since it did not meet these expectations, we plead to Government to draw inspiration from the road map. It is not about which party implements the change, it is about doing what is right for Botswana. Let us ensure no family nor individual is left behind.

Mr Speaker, while we acknowledge the efforts and aspirations set out by the ruling party, as the Leader of Minority and a Member of the BDP, I must express my concerns about the gaps and missed opportunities in the address, particularly when it comes to some critical issues that Botswana expects; tangible solutions for agriculture and food security, manufacturing and value added processing and many others.

Mr Speaker, on behalf of the people of Matebeleng, Modipane, Mokatse, Dikwididi, Oodi and all parts of Botswana, I bring a clear and strong message. They are ready to host industries for manufacturing and agro processing. These communities are prepared to embrace opportunities to become hubs for economic activities. Similarly, the River Villages, that is from Mabalane up to Phalakampa have expressed readiness to provide water resources and host manufacturing and agricultural development projects. These Botswana are eager to play their part in realising the promises of a diversified economy, and have asked me as their political representative to formally put this on record in Parliament.

Mr Speaker, as the BDP, we support this direction wholeheartedly, but emphasise the importance of deliberate action including partnerships with local communities and ensuring that manufacturing industries are not only conceptualised but fully implemented where they will have the most impact. The people are ready, now we need a Government that will meet their readiness with action, and that is the Government of UDC.

Mr Speaker, we as the BDP have consistently emphasised the critical importance of industrialisation as a driver of economic transformation on Page 17 of our manifesto. We really outlined industrialisation as the cornerstone of our development strategy. Our approach focused on leveraging value chain development to enhance the productivity and sustainability of various sectors while expanding production capabilities across districts and towns based on their comparative advantages.

Mr Speaker, the principle of comparative advantage recognises that every region has unique strengths, be it natural resources and skills of geographical position which should inform decisions about where and how industries are established. For example; districts agricultural richness could become the hubs for agro processing whilst others with strategic locations could lead in manufacturing or logistics. This was our philosophy, a balanced and equitable strategy designed to unlock the full potential of Botswana's diverse economy.

Mr Speaker, as the ruling party embarks on its journey, I want this Honourable House to underline the significance of this approach, comparative advantage should guide their industrialisation strategy, ensuring that all regions including the underserved are uplifted through deliberate and targeted investments. We will closely monitor their progress hoping they honour their pledges with actionable steps that align with this principle. Botswana's future hinges on not just bold promises but on delivering results that genuinely reflect the aspirations of its people.

Before I close on agriculture Mr Speaker, allow me to make a call for proactive action on natural disasters and agriculture. Mr Speaker, as the BDP we recognise the critical importance of preparing for natural disasters such as droughts and pandemics. Our administration faced significant challenges during COVID-19 including the need to rapidly adapt and provide Government for its commitment to review agricultural policies. We urge them to prioritise these efforts urgently given the drought currently affecting our nation.

The BDP laid a solid foundation through initiatives such as Economic Recovery and Transformation Plan (ERTP), revised agricultural programmes like Thuo Letlotlo and Temo Letlotlo and targeted livestock support during droughts. Additionally, our COVID-19 response included establishment of the National Task Force, social safety nets and an effective vaccination rollout which established the country during the global crisis.

We hope the new administration will build on these strides while learning the gaps we faced especially in scaling up early warning systems and improving life and social resilience to ensure Botswana is better prepared for any future challenges. Let us avoid repeating shortfalls and work collaboratively to safeguard our people and their livelihoods.

Technological Advancements; in terms of technological advancements Mr Speaker, it is important to acknowledge the solid foundation laid by the past administration through the Smart Botswana initiative. This programme has already made significant strides towards digital transformation and positioning Botswana as a technology driven nation.

The infrastructure policies and partnerships established under the initiative have created a robust platform for the new administration to build upon. The UDC Government pledges to connect 300 more schools to technology and internet services by early 2025. It is a positive commitment, which we in the BDP accepts and note with encouragement. However, as the leader of the minority opposition, I urge the Government to prioritise underserved areas when rolling out the connections. Communities such as Phala Camp, Ramotlabaki, Oliphant's Drift and other remote areas must be given precedence in this initiative. These regions have been historically underserved and have additional barriers to accessing in technology advancement making their inclusion a matter of both equity and national development. Mr Speaker, the technological divide between urban and rural areas must not widen further. By prioritising these far to reach places, the Government will not only enhance access to the education and opportunities but also foster inclusivity in Botswana's journey towards digital transformation. This approach aligns with the BDP's vision in empowering all Batswana equally as articulated in our previous strategies. We will monitor the implementation of this pledge closely and remain hopeful that the new administration recognises the importance of prioritising those who have been waiting longest for inclusion in Botswana's technological advancement.

Healthcare; Mr Speaker, I also want to hasten to say that, John Rawls in his theory of justice envisioned a world where individuals behind the "veil of ignorance" will create a society that is fair and equal without knowing their place, abilities or status in life. This principle of fairness is particularly relevant when discussing healthcare. An area where equality can directly determine the quality of life and survival. Mr Speaker, I am certain that not only the ruling party, but also all opposition parties agree that life is precious and that health must always come first. It is while the BDP's manifesto particularly on page 36 prioritise improving public health facilities expanding accessibility and ensuring that every Mofswana receives quality care regardless of their location or financial status. The UDC pledges regarding healthcare are promising, I must say that, they are promising...

HONOURABLE MEMBERS: ...(Applause!)...

MR PULE: ...and in many ways align with the commitments the BDP made. I hope the new Government will not just fulfill its promises but also surpass BDP's promises and achievements in this area. Healthcare improvement is not a competition at all, is about delivering the best possible outcomes for the people of Botswana. Mr Speaker, if it was feasible, I would challenge this Honourable House to commit to using public healthcare facilities for just 30 days following 100 days that Government has set for themselves without any special treatment. This would allow all of us as leaders, to truly understand the state of the services we legislate and advocate for. This is not just a theoretical exercise but a challenge my constituents in Kgatleng East have asked me to extend to the Honourable Members of this House. This challenge will embody Rawl's philosophy by putting ourselves in the shoes of the most vulnerable, experiencing first hand, the gaps and the triumphs of our public healthcare system. I am confident that such exercise could inspire faster, more empathetic and impactful reforms in Botswana's healthcare. Honourable Lucas o a itse gore nna le ene we resonate with the underdogs...

HONOURABLE MEMBERS: ...(Laughter!)...

MR PULE: International relations; Mr Speaker, on the subject of international relations, the Botswana Democratic Party under the leadership of Dr Mokgweetsi Eric Keabetswe Masisi earned many commendations for its proactive and strategic engagement globally. Our administration strengthened bilateral and multilateral ties negotiated deals that uplifted Botswana's profile and economy and leveraged relationships to secure significant advantages for the nation. These efforts brought Botswana to the forefront of global diplomacy while ensuring interest of Botswana were always prioritised. Regionally Mr Speaker, Botswana under the BDP actively led dialogues with the Southern African Development Community (SADC) particularly addressing regional instability. In 2021 and 2022, Botswana played a crucial role in advocating for regional peace in Mozambique contributing troops to the SADC mission in Mozambique, (SAMIM) to combat insurgency in Cabo Delgado. I had an opportunity to go there, I was in Cabo Delgado, a delegation that was sent to go and oversee what is going was on that side. Similarly, Botswana took a principled stance on the political situation in Eswatini pushing for reforms and dialogue which highlighted its unwavering commitment to the democracy and stability.

On the global stance, Botswana gained recognition for its proactive COVID-19 response. In 2021 Government brokered partnership with organisations like COVAX and pharmaceutical companies to secure vaccine supplies. Botswana was one of the first African countries to achieve the high vaccination rate, a feat widely commended internationally.

As I conclude Mr Speaker, allow me to extend my heartfelt congratulations once again to the UDC Government for aligning many of its pledges with those which Botswana Democratic Party had previously presented in our manifesto. It is evident that we both envisioned similar outcomes for this country albeit through different approaches. However, now that the people have entrusted UDC and that is highly respected by us to lead. It is your duty to demonstrate that these promises were not just words but tangible actions that deliver real results. The people of Kgatleng East where I come from, and indeed the entire nation, are eager to see impactful progress. Should you succeed in providing your capability, I am sure they will give you not just a nod of approval but perhaps even their trust for 58 years as they did with us. Mr Speaker, let it also be clear that while we stand ready to support efforts that advance Botswana, we will equally remain a vigilant opposition. Le se ka la re tsaya mothofo re le four-nyana jaana...

HONOURABLE MEMBERS: ...(Laughter!)...

MR PULE: We are going to be a vigilant opposition wena Honourable Tshere.

MR PULE: We will constructively scrutinise your actions, and hold you accountable Honourable Tshere, we will remind you of your promises and ask questions like, are they not the ones who said these? Are they not the ones who promised these? Did they not once criticise us for doing that? Those are the kind of questions we are going to ask you, be ready for those questions. The trust of the people is earned through delivery, not rectorate. We will support you when you deliver, and challenge you when you fall short. All in service of the people of Botswana, *e tlaabo e se gore re a itsema kana re batla go le kgakgafalela. We will invite all barristers, advocates, legal and political experts as well as think tanks, we are beginning to call them together to tell us what happened. Definitely we will identify those areas where we felt short, and we are going to correct those things. I thank you Mr Speaker.

HONOURABLE MEMBER: Clarification.

MR NYATANGA: Ke tlile go nna le nakonyana, ke batla go feleletsa bakaulengwe. Ke na le tumelo batsadi ya gore we can get a lot out of Mahalapye East.

Ke batla go bua ka ditsha, e bile ke a itumela gore bo Tona ba me ba teng fa botlhe ka bobedi. Bana ba Batswana ba tsene dikole gone kwa bo Harvard le Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) ba teng ba ka dira software, jaanong go batla political will and support.

I think Botswana fela spends over P500 million every year mo software. Ga ke dumela gore software ya manyena a dikgomo Rre Chimbombi e tshwanetse gore e ka bo e rekwa kwa South Africa, China, India kana kae. Re tshwanetse gore re bo re e itirela, re na le bokgoni. Fa re ka dira jalo re ka dira ditiro selo sa ntlha, sa bobedi we will save a lot of money that we are spending kwa ntle.

This would not only apply to IT systems. General Mokgware o tsene mo sesoleng a le 18 years over 40 years ago. Ba ne ba reka ditlhobolo le marumo, le gompieno ba santse ba di reka kwa ntle. Re palelwa ke eng gore re nne le factory e e dirang ditlhobolo, re bo re nna re rekisetsa marabele jaaka maChina ba rekisetsa marabele, re dira madi re export ditlhobolo?

Gompieno jaana countries are going into drone technology, armies are going into drone technology. Re emetse gore Minister wa Presidential a tle go kopa P100 million mo Palamenteng a re o batla go reka drones kwa America. Ke gore Tautona fa a bone tsala Steve Harvey kwa America, o tlaa mo gobelela madi a Botswana, Batswana ba sala ba itshopere fela.

Go na le kgang e nngwe ya Botswana Unified Revenue Service (BURS) e e leng gore gompiano ga e phuthe lekgetho as much as they could ka gore go na le dikompone tsa maChina tse di rekisang mo mall mongwe le mongwe.
